OUR APPROACH TO RESPONSIBLE INVESTMENT

Founded in 2002, Alcentra's objective is to achieve attractive long-term investment returns for its clients. We seek to achieve this goal by investing in responsibly managed companies. We believe these companies are better placed to achieve sustainable competitive advantage and provide long-term growth. At Alcentra, our primary activity is lending to sub-investment grade companies. We have been a PRI signatory since 2018.

The aim of this policy is to describe our principles and set out our approach to integrating and managing ESG risks in our investment process. Alcentra's ESG investment framework involves the following key activities:

- i) exclusion of companies based on defined product or conduct criteria ("Exclusions Policy");
- ii) in-depth analysis and ongoing monitoring of ESG risks;
- iii) active stewardship; and
- iv) collaboration with other investors and standard setters.

While this is a firm wide policy and we share a common responsible investment philosophy across investment strategies, there are certain nuances in how our Structured Credit business adopts this philosophy.

GOVERNANCE OF ESG RISKS

Organisation-wide strategy to identify and manage material Climate-related risks and opportunities.

At Alcentra, our primary activity is lending to sub-investment grade companies. Alcentra has an ESG policy that seeks to highlight the approach we take in integrating the assessment of ESG risks and engagement with portfolio companies during our investment process. While we share a common philosophy across the firm, there are certain nuances in how certain strategies adopt this philosophy. Our Structured Credit business, focused on investing in Collateralised Loan Obligations (CLOs), seeks to (where information is sufficiently available) assess the risks of the structures they invest in and engage with the asset managers who originate those structures as it relates to ESG.

In addition, under parent company, Franklin Templeton, Alcentra has representation on the ESG Investment Council which meets to share thoughts and best practice across all firms. Alcentra's Head of ESG regularly attends the FT Stewardship and Sustainability Council (SSC) and the FT Alternatives SSC Sub-committee. In 2021, Alcentra established a dedicated Responsible Investment team to further develop the firm's responsible investment strategy, its policies and procedures. The Head of Responsible Investing is also a member of Alcentra's Investment Committee and chairs the ESG Committee. The Responsible Investment team works across the firm to support the execution of Alcentra's responsible investment strategy, including the integration of ESG factors in investment decisions.

Alcentra's ESG policy is approved by the ESG Committee and presented to the Board of Directors. The policy is reviewed on an annual basis.

RESPONSIBLE INVESTMENT PILLARS

Alcentra has established a series of responsible investment principles to guide our investment decisions and stewardship activities. We broadly base our due diligence approach on internationally recognised standards such as the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the United Nations Global Compact. We have outlined our priorities across the key pillars: governance, climate change, environment and social.

Governance

Alcentra is a provider of capital to companies. We have an interest in ensuring the issuers in our portfolio are able to repay their credit obligations in a timely manner and that they maintain a stable credit risk profile. Although we do not have the same ownership rights as a shareholder, we share common interests. We believe good corporate governance is fundamental to ensure our interests as creditors are protected. An effective board is essential to oversee the adequate management of environmental and social risks. As part of our due diligence, we take into consideration various governance factors, including but not limited to the: i) board structure and composition; ii) remuneration practices; iii) anti-corruption practices; and iv) transparency and ethical conduct.

Climate change

Alcentra believes the economic impacts of climate change will be felt across industries and markets; however, we recognise the magnitude and timing of these impacts remain uncertain. Alcentra supports the goals of the Paris Agreement to limit global warming to 1.5 degrees Celsius. We became an official supporter of the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) in 2020. We believe the TCFD recommendations provide a useful framework for companies to articulate how they identify, mitigate and manage transition and physical climate risks. Our principles for assessing and engaging with companies on climate change matters are broadly based on the TCFD recommendations.

Environment

Environmental risks relate to the quality and functioning of the natural environment and natural systems and the impact of a company's operations on the environment. Companies could face increased compliance costs due to stricter regulatory requirements, fines, litigation risks, reputational risks and changes in consumer preferences. These risks could impact a company's ability to repay their debt. At Alcentra, we may assess issuers' exposure to material environmental issues, which could include water management, waste management, land use change and biodiversity, as well as airborne pollution. Our starting point is to identify the most material environmental risks relevant to the issuer's sector and regions of operation. We seek to understand the company's internal policies towards addressing environmental issues and the impact their operations may have on the environment.

Social

Companies may be exposed to social-related risks in their operations, supply chains and business relationships. As part of our due diligence, we may assess factors related to how companies manage human rights, human capital, the impact of companies' products and services on society, as well as how issuers manage relationships with stakeholders. These factors may pose reputational, regulatory and legal risks and costs to companies.

EXCLUSIONS POLICY

Alcentra believes that some corporate activities and behaviours are not compatible with our business values and responsible investment philosophy. We have established an exclusion policy which applies to all our investments¹, with the exception of our Structured Credit strategy.*

We exclude issuers that derive any revenue from:

- development, production or sale of controversial weapons. Alcentra defines controversial weapons as biological weapons, chemical weapons, nuclear weapons, depleted uranium weapons, incendiary weapons, cluster munitions and antipersonnel mines.
- production or sale of cannabis for recreational use
- payday lending activities. Payday lending refers to small, high-cost short-term consumer loans as defined by the UK's Financial Conduct Authority². Due to the high-cost nature of these loans, it often leads to a cycle of increasing indebtedness from lower-income members of society.

We also exclude issuers that derive more than 10% of revenues from:

- production or sale of tobacco or tobacco products
- production, operation and/or distribution of adult entertainment

Alcentra has also established exclusion criteria for certain fossil fuel activities. We exclude:

- issuers that derive 10 percent or more of revenue from thermal coal mining
- issuers that derive 10 percent or more of revenue from oil sands

*NB - The Structured Credit team works with the CLO Managers they invest in, at the point of appointment, for primary deals, to request wording in the CLO documentation to apply separate restrictions and exclusions, wherever possible. The wording is utilised to prevent CLO Managers from buying assets with exposure to certain industries – as further described in the Structured Credit section below. Most Managers are quite constructive in including this language in their CLO documentation.

CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Alcentra is committed to ensuring that the highest levels of integrity and ethics are maintained across operations. We are required by global regulators to identify conflicts of interest between ourselves and our clients and between clients. Alcentra has a fiduciary duty to its clients that requires each Employee to act solely for the benefit of clients. Each employee also has a duty to act in the best interests of the Firm. In addition to the various laws and regulations covering the Firm's activities, it is clearly in the Firm's best interests to avoid both potential conflicts of interest and the appearance of such conflicts.

We work to prevent and manage potential conflicts of interest, record conflicts of interest and maintain a Conflicts of Interest policy. The policy is managed and approved by our Head of Risk and Compliance. Our Conflicts of Interest Policy is reviewed every other year by our Compliance team. As a subsidiary of Franklin Templeton, Alcentra also adhere to certain global policies designed to mitigate Conflicts of Interest in so far as they apply to our business, for instance, Franklin Templeton's Anti-Corruption Policy.

¹ No new investments have been made in companies that fall within the scope of the exclusion criteria. Through our screening process, we identified one legacy illiquid holdings that fall under the scope of the exclusion criteria. We have no intention of extending any further financing to these companies.

VOTING-RELATED CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

As a credit manager, proxy voting is not material within the context of our activities. The number of occasions when Alcentra will be engaged in proxy voting will be limited. However, where votes are cast on behalf of clients these are done in line with the best interests of the underlying clients.

ESG RISK ANALYSIS AND MONITORING PROCESS

Our ESG integration process emphasises the importance of assessing material risks at both sector and issuer level. To that end, we have developed a suite of proprietary tools to support the integration of ESG factors in the investment process, including: i) sector materiality guide; ii) ESG and climate checklist; and iii) climate risk tool. The aim of the tools is to provide our investment teams with a consistent framework to focus issuer engagement and in assessing material ESG risks of an issuer.

Table 1. Alcentra’s key ESG tools

Sector Materiality Guide	As a starting point, credit analysts use a sector materiality guide to identify the ESG factors that could have a significant impact on issuers according to Alcentra’s industry classifications. The guide helps inform issuers’ ESG scores and provides direction for analysts on key factors to focus on during stewardship efforts.
ESG & climate checklist	Alcentra’s ESG & climate checklist was established in 2021 to provide investment teams with a consistent approach to assessing issuers across sectors and markets. Analysts use the checklist to capture relevant information on climate change, environmental, social and governance risks for new issuers. Issuers’ ESG scores are used to construct and manage portfolios.³ Our ESG scoring system relies on the assessment of more than 20 qualitative and quantitative indicators across each of the pillars. To inform issuers’ scores, we rely on corporate disclosures and leverage our credit analysts’ in-depth knowledge of their companies, sectors and markets, as well as third-party data. In addition to having individual pillar scores, analysts rate the overall ESG risk profile of the issuer. We use a 1-5 risk scale as defined in the table below. If an issuer scores 4 or 5 at a pillar or aggregate level, it will be referred to the ESG Committee. If an issuer is deemed to pose a very high risk (5) at an aggregate level, it will be excluded from the portfolio.

Scores at pillar level

Score	Risk Scale	Action
1	No risk	No action
2	Low risk	Monitor
3	Moderate risk	Inform relevant Investment Committee during credit approval process
4	High risk	Escalate to ESG Committee/focus issue at relevant Investment Committee
5	Very high risk	Exclude from portfolio and/or prevent further purchases

³ Prior to 2021, certain assets were not put through the ESG Checklist assessment process. We are currently retrospectively completing this for all live holdings, across all strategies (except Structured Credit), firmwide.

Analysts are required to complete the checklist and include it in the investment paper presented to the Investment Committee.

Climate Risk Tool

Alcentra's Climate Risk tool was developed to support the assessment of companies' exposure and management of transition and physical climate-related risks. We concentrate on sectors highly exposed to climate-related risks, either through their operations or value chains. We gather relevant climate metrics on our issuers, including companies' greenhouse gas emissions (GHG) across Scope 1, Scope 2 and Scope 3 and seek to track performance over time. Where companies do not disclose this information, we use third-party estimated emissions data. In addition, analysts also assess how well-prepared issuers are to manage the climate transition; for example, by considering companies' climate transition plans and targets. The tool calculates a climate risk score, which feeds into the ESG and Climate Checklist.

Monitoring

ESG risks and scores are dynamic. The assessment of ESG factors is an important part of the daily credit monitoring process, where analysts assess all risks and opportunities related to the issuer.

As part of our regular company dialogue, analysts engage with issuers on ESG matters on a regular basis. Engagement may be more frequent with issuers exposed to higher ESG risks or where company-specific or macro risks are developing. Our approach to engagement is explained in more detail further below.

Structured Credit

In our European Structured Credit investments, we apply a more strategy-specific approach whereby we aim to understand how the CLO Managers we invest in consider and monitor ESG risks. This includes but not limited to, their ESG governance structure, responsible investment / ESG policy, ESG assessment framework, risk tolerances, exclusions policy, stewardship activities, and details on Managers' dedicated staffing.

When purchasing CLO tranches in the European primary market, where Alcentra has more influence over the loan eligibility criteria for the CLO, we ask for exclusions of companies involved in certain activities in line with Alcentra's ESG exclusion policy.

The majority of CLO Managers have developed their own ESG investing and monitoring framework. We believe this development is positive for the market, and combined with our continued engagement with CLO Managers, will help us and the wider industry drive further ESG integration across investment processes..

ACTIVE STEWARDSHIP

As investors in the sub-investment grade credit market, Alcentra faces challenges related to availability and transparency of ESG data from issuers. As stewards of our investors' capital, we find that engagement is the most adequate approach to understand the ESG risks associated with our investments. We take an active role in engagement with portfolio companies to better understand risks, improve disclosures and encourage issuers to act in a sustainable manner. We benefit from our scale and tenure in our markets, which provides access to company management teams, sponsors and other key stakeholders. Our responsible investment principles guide our stewardship efforts.

Typically, investments in instruments that have voting rights is ancillary to the firm’s investment strategy, which focuses on investments in private and public sub-investment grade debt. Where applicable to vote on such instruments and in subsequent decisions (dependent on the vote in question), we will follow Alcentra’s ESG principles outlined above.

Alcentra maintains an ESG engagement log to capture and measure the effectiveness of engagement activities. ESG-related activities, including company engagements, are a component of analysts’ variable remuneration.

Specifically for Structured Credit, Alcentra’s stewardship activity is focused on engagement with CLO Managers. Amongst other things, this includes speaking to CLO Managers that we invest with on a regular basis. This may include calls to get updates on underlying borrowers, the Manager’s platform and their ESG policies. As part of this engagement, the Structured Credit team will promote Alcentra’s ESG expectations, specifically on exclusions where possible. Alcentra also sends out an annual ESG questionnaire to CLO Managers we invest in to get a formal update on their ESG processes, policies & data.

As a signatory to the UN Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI), we submit an annual report summarising our main responsible investment activities. Additionally, we are a signatory to the Financial Reporting Council’s UK Stewardship Code initiative, which further enhances our commitment to adherence to the highest standards of engagement and stewardship reporting. The external assessment of our approach to responsible investment helps inform our sustainability and stewardship practices and disclosures.

EXTERNAL COLLABORATION

Alcentra collaborates with other investors and key stakeholders to improve market standards and exchange best practices as we work towards common goals. Better corporate disclosures on ESG issues remains a priority for Alcentra. In Table 2 we present the main organisation and industry initiatives we take part in.

FINANCIAL PROMOTIONS

The Firm is required by regulation to ensure that any marketing materials remain consistent and do not contradict any of the Firm’s actual approaches to integrating ESG factors into the management of client portfolios or Firm sponsored investment vehicles. As such, the Firm has in place standard descriptions regarding the integration of ESG/sustainability risks within its portfolio management processes and these are consistent with any pre-contractual disclosures that are provided in client and investment vehicle literature. All ESG-related disclosures (including marketing material, website postings, press announcements etc.) are approved by the firm’s ESG Committee. Any changes to these descriptions must be approved by the ESG Committee prior to being included in any firm-wide or product marketing material.
